Welcome to Eastham

... Where Natural Beauty Stays on Cape Cod

IT'S your vacation, so why not enjoy it? In Eastham, you are in a position to take full advantage of a real old fashioned New England vacation. Some of the most superb vacation coastline with its many beaches and facilities on the whole Atlantic seaboard are at your command.

Eastham's little side roads give you the beauty of wild roses, pine woods and sparkling fresh water ponds. Add to these the modern roads criss-crossing through the town as though to intertwine the natural beauty with a convenience and almost tangible sense of welcome and you will realize Eastham can't be beat for joyous, comfortable living, whether for a week, a month or your lifetime.

Not only will you enjoy the summer months but more and more we find our guests enjoy attending an old fashioned New England Town meeting in the early Spring. And who could ask for anything better than a traditional Thanksgiving centered among the Historical surroundings of its origin.

Eastham, is a year round vacation land ... Why not take advantage of it? ? ?

From all your friends, the townspeople of Eastham

THE OLD CROSBY TAVERN

During the War of 1812, all communications by water with Boston and other commercial cities were cut off except in small boats running round by the shore, and that with much danger of capture and impressment by the British. An incident connected with the history of this town and this house, shows that Captain Matthew H. Mayo, accompanied by Captain Winslow L. Knowles, left Eastham with grain for Boston. On the return trip they were captured by the British. Capt. Knowles was sent to Boston for ransom; Capt. Mayo was detained aboard. After two days the schooner was overtaken by a severe nor-west wind and Capt. Mayo advised them to make anchor where he knew of bad holding ground. The schooner soon grounded on the flats of Eastham. The men not realizing their precarious position soon found themselves in the same situation as Capt. Mayo. The Eastham Militia took possession of the vessel and the crew was marched to the Crosby Tavern and there placed under guard.

The Cape half-house with a small ell kitchen, was built in approximately 1835 by Ephraim Higgins (son of Elkanah jr.) a direct descendant of Richard, one of the original settlers of Eastham, in 1644. Ephraim and his wife Deborah had the house built on about 2½ acres of upland and marsh which went to Rock Harbor Creek. The house was built with wide boards from Salt Works, which were quite abundant in that area at the time. When Ephraim and Deborah moved to Brewster, in 1857 that house was sold to their only son Orien, and his wife Eliza. Although Orien was not born in this house, four of his brothers and sisters were, as well as ten of his eleven children. Orien was a mariner, following the sea well over 50 years, until his death in 1910.

OLD HOUSES

OPEN TO THE PUBLIC

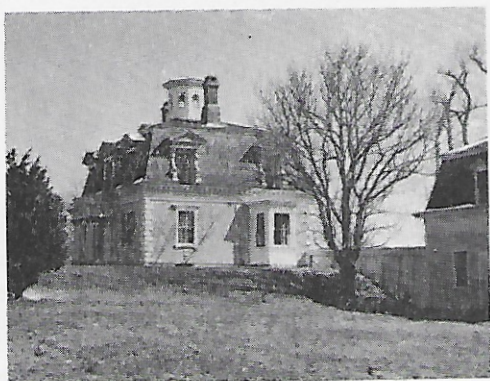

Pictured on these pages are four houses. The half, the three-quarter, the full Cape and a sea captain's house. Looking at them we wonder who were the people who built them, what were they like and how did they live.

This three-quarter Cape house was the home of at least three (possibly more) generations of Coles. The first record about this house was found in town records; "In 1799 Seth Knowles and others obtained liberty of the town to dig a canal from Herring Pond, across the road near Timothy Cole's into Great Meadow River for the purpose of letting in herring." This same year, considerable investments were being made in the manufacture of salt. In 1826 Timothy Cole owned the second largest Salt Works in the Town. From the earliest U.S. Government topographical maps, we find that these Salt Works, vats, mills, etc., extend westward from the house.

CAPT. EDWARD PENNIMAN HOUSE

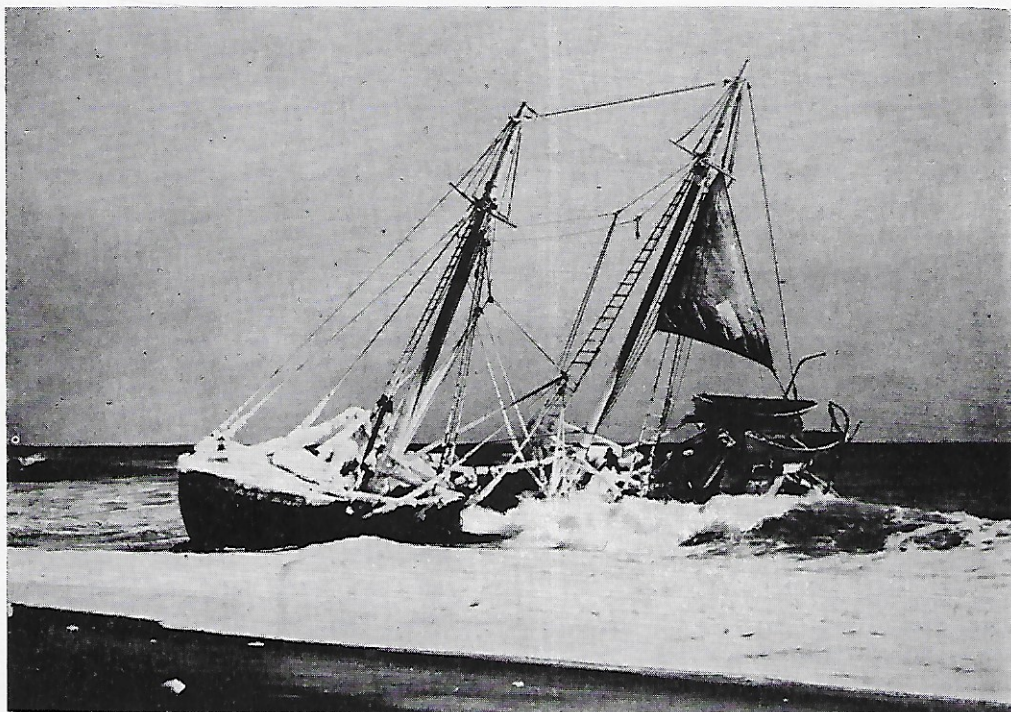

One of the arctic whaling Captains, who attained special prominence was Captain Edward Penniman. In 1842, when eleven years of age he first went to sea aboard a fishing schooner. In 1860 he took command of the bark Minerva. It was during his command of this vessel near the end of the Civil War, that he narrowly escaped encounter with the Confederate Cruiser Shenandoah, his ship being the special object of the cruiser's search. In 1868 he engaged in business in Chicago, where he spent the winters of four years, and his summers in Eastham. During these summers he was overseeing the building and landscaping of his residence, where he later retired and spent his remaining years. He lived in kindness and firmness, respected by all who knew him.

NAUSET BEACH

It has been said, "If all the wrecks which have piled up on the backside of the Cape were placed bow to stern they would make a continuous wall from Monomoy to Provincetown.

To sailing ship masters in the old days Nauset Beach, the Great Breach or the "backside" of Outer Cape Cod was a dead lee shore with no haven of refuge during the northeast gales of winter. Once caught close inshore ships were driven inexorably into the drifting, sandy shoals and tremendous winter surf.

Many wrecks broke up within a few hours and their crews perished from exposure or drowning. The U.S. Life Saving Service maintained twelve Cape Cod stations with beach patrols and surf boats and rescued many through the years.

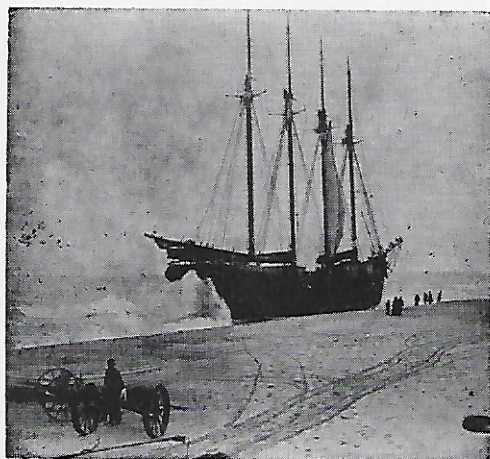

The New Bedford scallop dragger, Cape Ann, wallows in the surf at Nauset, March 6, 1948. Coastguardmen rescued 5 men by breeches buoy. Cargo and gear were saved but vessel complete loss.

SHIP GRAVEYARD

The schooner Katie J. Barrett came ashore at Eastham in February, 1890. One of the few to survive, the hull was refloated several months later.

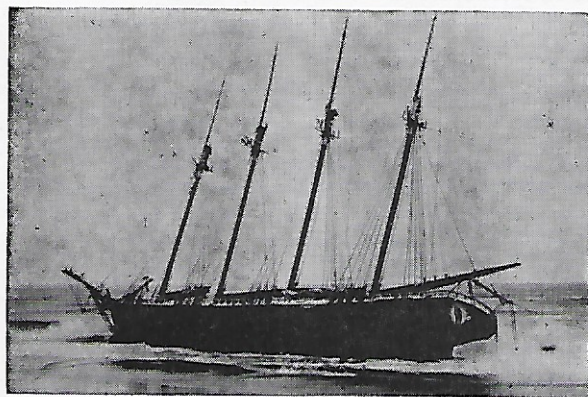

The first shipwreck on Nauset Beach occurred in 1626 and the latest in 1948. In 1627 the famous pirate Richard Belamy's ship Whidah was wrecked on the backside, in that part now South Wellfleet, and he and all but two of his men drowned. A companion vessel, the pink Mary Anne, was wrecked farther south. Seven survived and five, after trial in Boston, were hanged.

The gales of 1839 piled Nauset Beach with wreckage. Three separate storms blew up that December, storms of "unequalled fury and destructiveness". The toll on Cape shores was 21 vessels: one brig and two schooners lost with crews; three brigs and one sloop total losses but crews saved; balance sunk at their moorings or ashore. Eastham saw several of these. Before two years had elapsed came the even more terrible gale of October, 1841, most disastrous in history to the Cape fishing fleet.

Today with powered vessels, navigation aids and diminished offshore traffic due to the Cape Cod Canal, the wrecks are so infrequent that only the Chatham station remains in operation.

EASTHAM HISTORICAL SOCIETY, INC.

"Preserving the Past for the Future"

The Eastham Historical Society, Inc. was founded in 1963. Membership now numbers approximately 350 members, resident and non-resident. The object of the Society is to create and foster an interest in the Town of Eastham, to promote historical research, to collect and preserve artifacts, photographs, historical documents, and to provide for their proper custody.

The above photograph shows the exterior of the restored 1869 one room schoolhouse, now the Schoolhouse Museum, located opposite the Visitors Center in the Cape Cod National Seashore.

The 1970 Museum season will open Saturday afternoon, June 27th, from 2 to 5 p.m. During July and August the Museum will be open on Monday, Wednesday, Friday, and Saturday afternoons from 2 to 5 p.m. In September the Museum will be open Saturday afternoons only. The admission is 25c per person, pre-school children excepted.

Apart from the establishment of the Museum and lectures, historical signs have been placed at the Old Cove Burial Ground on Route 6. Here the Society also placed memorial stones on the unmarked graves of Mayflower passengers Constance Hopkins Snow, Giles Hopkins, and Lieut. Joseph Rogers. Also at the 2nd old cemetery on Bridge Road, both having been sites of Congregational churches. At the First Encounter parking lot on the Bay side, a sign marks the location, and a black top path leads up the side of the dune to the Memorial stone, which marks the site of the first encounter of the Pilgrims with the Indians. From here there is a fine view of the Bay and the Target ship.

Suitable gifts for the Museum will be welcomed and may be left at the Eastham Public Library or the Museum. Further projects are under consideration and suggestions will be welcomed, as will new members. The membership is $1.00 per person per year for adults and 50c for children. Applications may be sent to Mrs. E. E. Kattwinkel, Secretary, P.O. Box 8, Eastham, Mass. 02642.

The historical facts in the 1969 Eastham Town Report and in this handbook were supplied by the Society.

Target Ship In Bay Serves A Good Purpose

This target ship in Cape Cod Bay was a victory ship named General James E. Longstreet. Towed to its present position early in World War II, it rests on the bottom of the Bay and is used for target practice by U.S. Air Force planes stationed at nearby air fields. Light caliber ammunition as well as rockets and practice bombs are used to train the plane crews. When towed into position the ship was new but incomplete and had no engines.

Cape Cod National Seashore Offers Much For Everyone

Cape Cod National Seashore was authorized by Act of Congress August 7, 1961. The area within the authorized boundary will consist of 27,000 acres of land with a shoreline of 35 miles of the "Great Beach" along the Atlantic Ocean, and about 14 miles along the Bay side.

The primary purpose of Cape Cod National Seashore is to preserve the outstanding natural and historic features of the area. At the same time the National Park Service is responsible to make it possible for visitors to enjoy the unspoiled features and the recreational opportunities in the area.

Five areas will be open to visitors during the 1970 season; the Coast Guard and Nauset Light Beaches in Eastham, the Marconi Station Area in So. Wellfleet, Pilgrim Heights in No. Truro and the Province Lands. All other land within the authorized boundary will still be under private ownership and will not be open to visitors. Visitors are urged to respect the rights of property owners.

To provide information and assistance to visitors Park Rangers may be found on duty at the following stations:

National Seashore Visitors Center, Salt Pond, Eastham, National Seashore Headquarters at Marconi Station, So. Wellfleet, and at the Provincelands Visitors Center, Provincetown.

Information brochures and maps may be obtained at these stations.

Protected swimming beaches are operated at Coast Guard and Nauset Light beaches in Eastham, at Herring Cove and Race Point in Provincelands, at Marconi Site in So. Wellfleet and at Head of the Meadow beach in No. Truro. Visitors are encouraged to swim in lifeguard-protected areas for ocean currents can be dangerous.

Vehicles equipped for over-sand driving must use the designated sand routes only. A permit which can be obtained at Seashore Headquarters is required.

An interpretive program is conducted from July 1 until November 1. The activities offered include guided tours, nature walks and illustrated lectures. These, plus self-guided trails and exhibits are noted in pamphlets available at the two Visitors Centers and the National Seashore Headquarters. They are provided to give visitors a personal acquaintance with the natural history and historical folklore of Cape Cod. Interpretive exhibits are located at the Visitors Center in Eastham, Ocean View in Province Lands, at Pilgrim Heights and at the Assembly Hall and the interpretive shelter in the Marconi Station Area.

ALL ROADS LEAD to EASTHAM

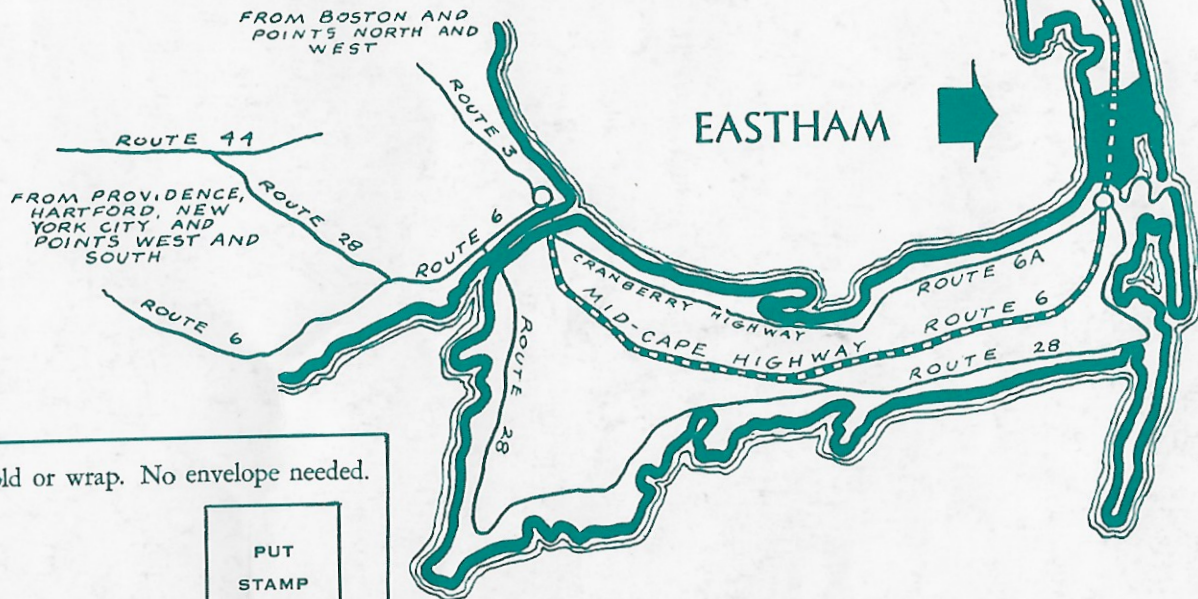

AFTER you cross the Cape Cod Canal at the Sagamore Bridge and start along the Mid-Cape Highway, Eastham is the very first town you come to without having to make a turn off the Highway.

Just 39 miles along this super-highway when you use the Sagamore Bridge, Eastham is but a few miles more if you use the Bourne Bridge.
